

CONFERENCE PROGRAM

The complexities surrounding the globalization and the interconnectedness of nations are creating challenges for nation-states as well as other newly formed political structures. Innovative social, political, and economic structures are being formed and existing structures are being re-formed to adapt to these challenges. These conferences bring experts from around the world to share their research and experiences in social sciences, arts and humanities, engineering, technology, and more.

Informing Societies, Uniting Cultures, Celebrating Diversity™
